Book Introduction

The Nagorno-Karabakh Conflict in the Soviet and Russian Press

Edited by: Artyom Tonoyan

Sunday, December 12, 2021

In-Person at Merriam Park Library
1831 Marshall Ave., St. Paul
2 to 4:30 pm

For a few brief weeks in fall 2020, Western media buzzed with news of the intense war in Nagorno-Karabakh, an Armenian populated region that declared independence from Azerbaijan in 1991.

The conflict had been “frozen” since 1994, so the new outbreak of violence caught many journalists unawares.

Moscow’s knowledge of the region is as strong as it is permanent, dictated mainly by geopolitical interests. The present collection of articles – carefully translated, edited, and culled from a vast repository of Russian-language press curated by East View – presents in book form for the first time in English some of the most important material that has appeared from 1988 to the present.
