“Armenia - The Sleeping Beauty” An Open-Air Museum

Narrated in English. Produced in 2005 ~ 51 minutes

Producers: Pierre Bagdadian and Diran Bagdadian

Director: Carmen Labaki, Script: Nidal Ayoub

Featuring Luciné Tovmassian, Miss Armenia 2003

A song by Charles Aznavour, “tu es ma terre mon pays” is featured in the film

This is how most tourists describe Armenia, one of the oldest countries in the world. This documentary contains breathtaking scenes from the majestic landscape of Mounts Ararat and Aragats, as well as the charming, peaceful Lake Sevan.

With fine selected music, it takes the viewer on a tour of modern-day Yerevan, the capital, where theaters, markets, coffee shops, restaurants, and night clubs attract people day and night. Here's information about the historic churches, marvelous monuments and statues, as well as the museums.

Miss Armenia 2003, Luciné Tovmassian, accompanies the camera for guidance and a résumé of an ancient country where things are changing rapidly following the collapse of the Soviet Union.

We cannot gather in person right now, but we hope you will join us on this virtual cinematic trip to view the sights and sounds of Armenia

ACOM events continue during the pandemic!
