The Armenian Spirit

(2020, Dir. Angela Asatrian, 73 mins)

October 17, 2026, 7pm

at the home of Nairy Digris & Terry McGibbon:
1703 Skillman Ave W, Roseville, MN 55113

Born out the personal tragedy of the director's loss of her cousin, killed during the 2020 Artsakh War, Asatrian travels to Armenia to interview survivors, historians, scholars, activists, and prisoners of war. The film blends therapeutic storytelling with historical investigation, examining the roots of the 2020 conflict, regional geopolitics (such as Panturkism and Armenophobia), historical trauma, and the enduring resilience of the Armenian people. Delving back into the ancient history of Armenia, through the Soviet era and the creation of Azerbaijan, the film examines historical and current attempts to erase not only the Armenian people from their historical lands, but also to erase and demonize its culture and heritage today.
